

NOVEMBER 2023

RBCC YOUTH GROUP

Civics and Our Spirituality Series

We are all deeply connected to one another and to something bigger than ourselves. Young people are drawn to being part of a spiritual or “moral universe” beyond oneself; to having a purpose in life beyond oneself; and having deep interconnectedness to their peers. Small changes in our mindset can lead to changes in how we organize our lives and in the decisions we make, both small and large. Those changes can lead to transformative change in the larger world if substantially more people can feel, think, listen, and act from this faith.

We must trust that progress down this path toward greater individual and collective wisdom, compassion, courage, energy, and perseverance is possible. And we must work actively to make it a reality because, as Dr. King said, “We must all learn to live together as brothers [and sisters] or we will all perish together as fools.”

During the month of November, the youth will focus on civic actions and their relation to their spiritual formation.
